May 2023

Dear Colleagues,

Welcome to the May 2023 Information Flyer. We hope you'll find the following items of interest to you and your school. Please circulate to all staff and particularly subject leaders.

'As the rain and the snow come down from the heavens and do not return without watering the earth, making it yield and giving growth to provide seed for the sower and bread for the eating, so the word that goes from my mouth does not return to me empty, without carrying out my will and succeeding in what it was sent to do.' Isaiah 55:10–11

As May seems to whizz by, we mustn't forget what the month is heralding – the blossom of spring, the growth of flowers, plants and trees all point to the warmer summer days ahead. As this Bible passage says – we need to stop and remember that the world is preparing for growth and change. Transformation will happen before our very eyes and we will witness the beauty of God's creation once again. A creation that provides and sustains us in so many ways. Whether it is the food we eat, the air we breathe or the beauty that calms us and leaves us in awe and wonder. A time in school where learning moves to embrace the outdoors, explores the awe and wonder of creation and enjoys the freedom longer days and warmer weather offers.

4. A Fresh Look at Church School Inspection – Grove House publication

The diocese team receives regular publications from Grove Education (to which you can subscribe to as a school). The most recent edition in their series is a short book of 28 pages that provides a very good introduction to the thinking behind and within the new SIAMS Framework that will become statutory from September 2023. This has been written by Dr Margaret James – national SIAMS Director.

Grove Education summarise this publication as:

The 2023 SIAMS Framework marks a significant break with previous approaches to the inspection of church schools. It is radically different in its use of qualitative evidence to reach judgments rather than grades. Yet it is radically the same in as much as it does not reimagine what it means to be a church school.

This essential guide examines and explains the key changes and explores how schools can demonstrate their theologically rooted Christian vision and practice.

The diocese recommends all of its schools and academies purchase this publication, costing £3.95, from https://grovebooks.co.uk/collections/education

Those schools already booked on to the Are You SIAMS Ready? Training will be provided with a complimentary copy as part of the training materials.

This publication is the first in a series of three to be produced around the new inspection framework, the others will be published later this year / early next year. When they have been we will let you know.

5. Introduction to Racial Justice: Staff Meeting resources

Sarah Claflin, assistant head at St Michael's CE VA Junior School, Bowthorpe, is seconded to work one day per week with the diocese as the Racial Justice Adviser. She and a small team of teachers from across the Diocese have produced some excellent resources to help schools consider and introduce Equity, Diversity and Racial Justice to their staff. This resource comes in two parts; a PowerPoint presentation to share with staff and a script for the person delivering the session to use. The script offers additional notes to help the person delivering the session to have a good basic understanding of the issues it covers, the history related to them and current thinking in schools.

The diocese highly commends all schools to use this carefully thought-out resource to begin the EDI / Racial Justice conversation in their school setting. This can be followed up by attending the termly Racial Justice networks Sarah leads or by contacting her to come and undertake more detailed work in school – the types of work she can assist with are detailed in our new training offer for 2023-24.

Please find attached the PowerPoint and planning script.
